For this client, we provided a cohesive landscape design with their previous location. We utilized unique plants and specific placement to highlight the building features and provide a more mountain environment.

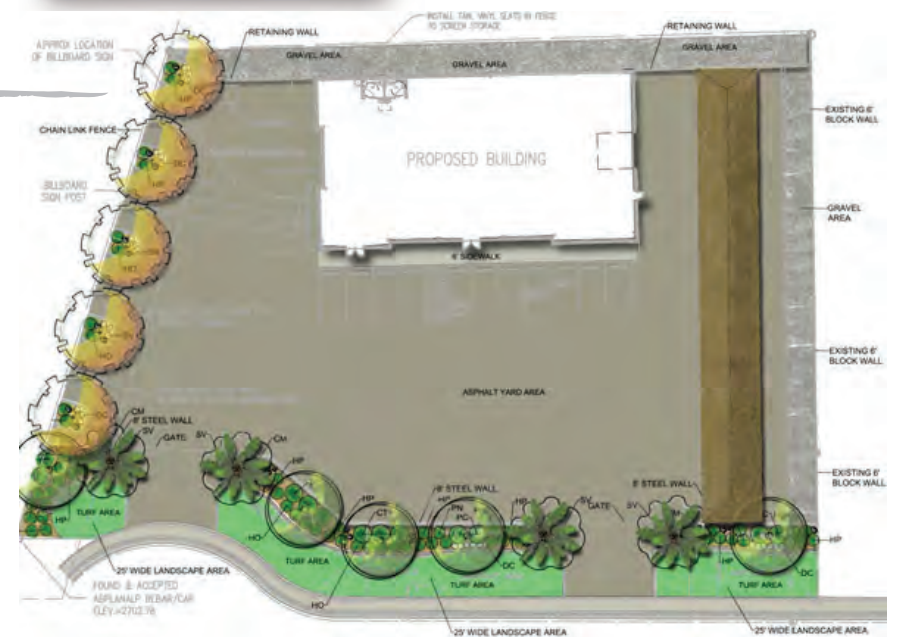

Diversify Office

This project required a UDOT permit with specific buffer requirements along the road. It also had slope constraints through the site that caused issues in fitting all of the required items on the property. We utilized retaining walls to help accommodate and incorporated a couple varieties of rock for visual interest on the steep slopes.

Sprinkler Supply - St. George

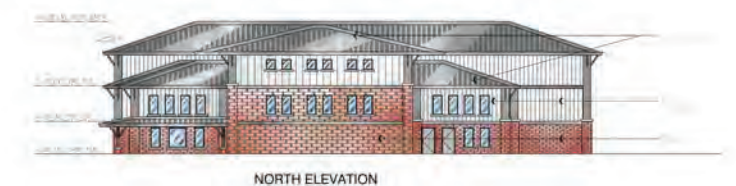

It is always fun to be able to think of more tropical weather and be able to incorporate palm trees into a design. It is even more of a treat when those palm trees are placed with a commercial building as part of their streetscape landscaping.

DBS Storage

For DBS Storage we worked closely with the client on the architecture of the actual building helping to pick adjust external overhangs, materials, and window placement. Being at this stage of the design allowed us to create pockets and areas where building and landscape can work together to create amazing places.
