k was placed in an area that ould look out over the ding area and see for miles.

*Natural play was the

A wide-angle photograph of a modern playground. In the foreground, a paved path curves through a landscaped area featuring a bed of light-colored rocks and several clumps of tall, thin grass. To the left, a large, grey, rock-like structure is surrounded by green vertical poles. In the center, a large, dark green play structure with multiple slides and platforms is visible. The background shows a grassy field, a fence, and distant mountains under a cloudy sky.
