

RESIDENTIAL

Intimate Areas

The only common thread we have found with the unique landscapes of residential design is that each owner wants their own intimate areas where there personality can shine through and create an inviting spot for friends and family to gather. Through many designs, we have captured unique pockets, such as: hammock areas, spas, pools, potager gardens, fire pits, arbors, and patio space.

Unique and inviting spaces for the unique personalities of each homeowner

Hardscape Adding to Softscape

Our passions lie in placing the right plant in the right place and utilizing the many amazing hardscape materials as added textures to the site. It is amazing how the eye sparkles and peaceful feelings ensue when you step into a defined style and planned out yard. Landscaping brings order, even when it is in a native environment, and the unique relationship between the multitude of materials that can be placed within those areas creates the intoxicating planning that we have come to love and make sure we apply to each design.
